THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN INDIVIDUAL TAX RELIEF, REBATE AND INCENTIVE CLAIM

In filling out the tax form, the relief column is often a concern because expenses on some items are allowed to reduce the amount of taxable income, thus leading to a lower amount of tax. However, rebates and incentive claims are also available if eligible.

Here are the differences between tax reliefs, rebates and incentive claims for an individual :

i) Tax Reliefs :

Certain expenses on oneself (and also covering spouse and children if related) that are allowed to be deducted in income reporting and must be supported with documents, statements or receipts of expenses for the purpose of proof if requested;

ii) Tax Rebates :

Reduction given after tax calculation. The tax rebate granted to the taxpayer concerned are :

- a) An individual whose chargeable income does not exceed RM35,000,
- b) Payment of obligatory zakat and fitrah, and
- c) Departure levy for umrah travel / religious travel for other religions (limited to two (2) trips in a lifetime);

iii) Tax Incentive Claims :

Exemption given by the Minister of Finance to any specific taxpayer. Two (2) incentive claims allowed to individual taxpayers are :

- a) Claim Incentive(s) under paragraph 127(3)(b) of Income Tax Act (ITA) 1967, where exemption given to any specific person from complying with any provision of the ITA 1967, either generally or in respect of any income; and
- b) Claim for incentive(s) under subsection 127(3A) of ITA Act 1967, where exemption specifically given from complying with any provision of the ITA 1967, either generally or in respect of any income. The Minister's Approval Letter, computation of incentive and supporting documents should be kept for future reference / examination by HASiL, if required.

PROFILING INFORMATION SYSTEM (PINS)

Starting 1st January 2024, the Profiling Information System (PINS) replace the Detection Unit Information System (e-SMUP) which was discontinued on 31st December 2023.

PINS is a system built for agencies to submit information requested by HASiL through a Form Q application to the agency. This tracking and compliance program are in line with Section 81, Income Tax Act, 1967 which provides authority to HASiL to request information. This initiative is also to support the enforcement and compliance activities conducted by HASiL as well as providing information for the purpose of tax base expansion.

More information on PINS can be reviewed via <https://pins.hasil.gov.my/laman-utama/log-masuk>.
